Salesforce, Inc.

Salesforce is a San Francisco-based CRM software provider. It sells subscription offerings across sales, service, marketing, commerce, data and integration on its AI-powered Agentforce 360 Platform to businesses worldwide, directly and through partners. 10-K FY2026

Company at a glance

Sector	Private sector
Industry	Prepackaged software (CRM)
Headquarters	San Francisco, CA
Employees	83,334 (as of Jan 31, 2026)
Listing	NYSE: CRM; fiscal year ends Jan 31

Industry context

- Market is highly competitive and fragmented, with low barriers to entry and frequent product launches. 10-K
- AI-native startups using generative AI are named as competitors that may bypass traditional workflows. 10-K

Financial snapshot (FY ended Jan 31, 2026)

Metric	Value (change vs prior year)
Revenue	$41.5B (+9.6%) 10-K
Net income	$7.46B (+20.3%)
Total debt	$14.4B

Leadership

- Marc Benioff: Chair, CEO and Co-Founder Leadership
- Robin Washington: President and Chief Operating and Financial Officer Leadership
- Rohan Kumar: President and Chief Platform and Engineering Officer Leadership

Strategy and recent direction

- Pitches an "agentic enterprise" on the Agentforce 360 Platform, with Slack as the main interface. 10-K
- Oct 20, 2026: agreed to buy Braze for about $5.66B in cash; close expected in fiscal 2028, pending approvals. CNBC 8-K

Partners and alliances

Organization	Role	Publicly reported relationship
Anthropic	Partner	Expanded partnership reported Aug 2026, including a "Claudeforce" plugin with pre-built sales skills CNBC

Developments that may affect the IBM relationship

Development	Potential account implication
Aug 5, 2026: Srini Tallapragada stepped down as President and Chief Engineering and Customer Success Officer; advisor to CEO through Aug 2027	Technical and customer-success contacts may be in transition; ownership of those duties could be worth confirming 8-K